PROJECTS

DNA (Doctors in Nearby Area) Android Application

- It is an Android application whose objective is to help people find health care solutions. Java is used for the development of the backend of the app and firebase database is used for efficient backend services and real-time data storage. With the use of Google Maps, DNA ensures that user can find the nearest doctors and hospitals with ease. Also, it helps this app users to make appointments right on the app, and this comes in handy when it comes to health-related issues.
